Mallisa Jackson

Mallisa began her career in commercial real estate after having enjoyed several years of repeated success in improving the business models operational efficiency, personnel involvement and economic profitability of multiple different types of companies.

Mallisa applies her aggressive cold calling skills, intense work ethic, attention to detail and international connections, personally developed systems and operations to every transaction. She is passionately focused on developing the necessary relationships and market insight to provide her clients with effective and powerful strategies for relocating and/or expanding their business, finding the right tenants to create a synergistic atmosphere for neighborhood shopping centers for landlords of existing developments and developers for new developments or redevelopments.
